++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy for all, with the odd brighter spell later.

Today:
A cloudy day for all but staying dry once any morning light rain or drizzle has cleared. The odd brighter spell is possible later in the day, the best of these in the west. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Another cloudy night, with this thick enough for some patchy light rain or drizzle, mainly over eastern hills. Northwesternmost areas seeing the most of any clearer spells. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy to start for most, with some patchy drizzle in places. Cloud then becomes more broken into the afternoon, allowing for widespread sunny spells across Wales by the afternoon. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Cloudy starts Friday and Saturday, locally chilly under the odd clearer spell; brighter, and sunny spells then develop each day. Turning unsettled Sunday, with rain and possibly thundery showers arriving.
